Application for Touchstone Master's Art Class: Storytelling in Comic Illustration

Thank you so much for your interest in attending our Master's Art Class with renowned comic illustrator David Van Dyke. Seats for the course are extremely limited, and the submission of an application does not guarantee acceptance in the course. All applications will be submitted into a lottery system and accepted applications will be drawn at random. While this course is intended for those artists that wish to take their art and understanding of the creation of art to a higher level, there are no requirements regarding experience or education. All artists aged 13-19 years are encouraged to apply.

There will be four two-hour sessions in the course. All artists are required to attend each session. Absence from a session must be cleared with the instructor prior to the absence (with the exception of emergency circumstances). Failure to clear absences or the case of more than one absence will result in the loss of your seat in the course.
